NHPA Chapter/Region Spotlights:

SJFU NHPA Student Chapter

In celebration of Hispanic Heritage Month, the NHPA Chapter at St. John Fisher University recently hosted a health fair for the adult group from Centro de Oro (via IBERO agency) in Rochester, NY. The chapter said, "We should embrace and celebrate the culture daily, not just 'the month,' through our works as health professionals and educators. We can focus our service efforts in ways that will enhance our Hispanic community to become better health advocates for themselves and their families despite language and cultural differences."

NHPA Southeast Region

The NHPA Southeast Region was thrilled to participate in the Annual Festival Peachtree Latino in Atlanta, Georgia on August 28! Students from the University of Georgia NHPA Chapter and Mercer College of Pharmacy performed blood pressure and blood glucose checks for festival attendees at the largest multicultural event in the state of Georgia since 2000.

UCSF NHPA Student Chapter

Last month, NHPA's UCSF chapter participated in a great event providing blood pressure and blood glucose level checks to community members. The students were able to identify several patients with abnormal readings and distributed lists of free and affordable clinics in the area. Thank you to El Monte Pharmacy for donating supplies, and to the students of UCSF School of Pharmacy and School of Medicine for volunteering to improve the health of their community!

Welcome New Chapters!

NHPA is excited to welcome our two newest NHPA Student Chapters at the University of Florida and Temple University! We are thrilled to have you as part of our NHPA family.
